THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s. —a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades Directory of LONDON, and over Two hundred and twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

Birmingham	Cardiff	Leeds	Newcastle-on-Tyne	Portsmouth	South Shields
Blackburn	Derby	Leicester	Northampton	Preston	Stockport

Bristol	Huddersfield		Plymouth and Stonehouse	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	Hull	Middlesbrough		Sheffield	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

Any alteration in Style of Firms or Change of Address should be communicated to the Publishers.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Liverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited. Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

. . . Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

PREFACE.

IN presenting to the public another Edition of our SCOTTISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, we have again to tender sincere thanks to our numerous Subscribers and Friends for the steadily increased patronage which, from year to year, has been accorded to this work. Our expectation that a practical and carefully-compiled 'Trades' Directory for the whole of Scotland, issued at a moderate price, would secure the appreciation of the public has been more than justified.

Since the last edition was issued, the Directory has undergone a complete and thorough revision, and it is confidently hoped that mistakes are both few and unimportant, as neither care nor expense have been spared to have the information as recent and reliable as possible. For errors of omission, or inaccuracy, which may crop up, however, we must plead the indulgence of our patrons in view of the comprehensive nature of the work.

In the process of compilation and bringing up to date of the present edition of the Directory, very many names have been added to its lists, our agents having visited every City, Town, and Village in Scotland to verify, by personal application, every name it contains. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and we trust we have succeeded in some measure in producing a reliable BOOK OF REFERENCE, which will be the means of bringing Traders into closer relationship throughout the country.

By the adoption of the most approved type-setting machinery, and other special plant, we are enabled to keep the type standing—thus lessening the cost of production, reducing typographical errors to a minimum, and securing the general accuracy of the work—and to issue our Directory at less than half the price usually charged for similar publications. The price to British Subscribers remains 12s. 6d. as hitherto; Colonial and Foreign Subscribers are charged 5s. extra to cover additional cost of carriage, etc.

NEW COUNTY DIRECTORY.

A New Edition of "The County Supplement," bringing the information up to date, is added to this year's issue of the "SCOTTISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER." This Supplement forms an exhaustive Directory of the Nobility, County and Professional Gentlemen, and Farmers, throughout Scotland, and is issued at the price of 7s. 6d. extra; or may be had bound separately, price 10s. 6d.

In offering our best thanks to all those who favoured us, directly or through our representatives, with information, we wish to state that any suggestion likely to increase the usefulness of the work will have our respectful consideration. It will be our earnest and constant endeavour in future editions, by accuracy of detail, completeness of information, and the introduction of new features, to merit the continued confidence of the public.

MACDONALD'S
English Directory and Gazetteer.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Daily News (London)

A GIGANTIC DIRECTORY.—The steady expansion of "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" has rendered it necessary to divide the new and revised edition just published into two portly volumes, each of which comprises considerably more than three thousand pages. This enormous bulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a Trades Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, subdivided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that must have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is sufficiently obvious.

Daily Express (London)

These two bulky volumes contain a mine of useful information, simply arranged, and covering every county and borough in the kingdom. As a guide to the retail trade of the minor towns it is especially useful.

M. A. P. (London)

I have received a copy of this practical and valuable compilation. There can be nothing but praise for the manner in which it has been brought out and the conciseness and accuracy of its references. The success of former editions has enabled the publishers to add to the comprehensiveness and general utility of the present volumes; and busy business men will find the Gazetteer, which gives an alphabetical list of villages and towns, particularly useful and convenient.

Lloyd's Weekly Newspaper (London)

The plan of the work is to give authentic lists of persons in professions, trades, and businesses in upwards of four thousand towns and cities of England, Wales, and the Channel Islands. The checks we have been able to make show the work to be accurate, and it should prove an immense saving in trouble and money to business men.

Licensed Victuallers' Gazette (London)

In two large volumes, of something over 6000 pages in all, and each of the familiar size of the London Directory, here is a complete trade directory of England and Wales. The reviewer, at present staying in a small seaside place on the south coast, has personally verified its local exactness, and has not a fault to find. The work is a model of painstaking, and gives the trader the gist, in commercial matters, of all the town and county directories

Financial News (London)

The bulk of the "London Post Office Directory" and "Burdett" is quite put in the shade by "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer." This comprehensive publication is the largest directory in the English language. It is a wonderful compilation, indispensable to every counting-house and hotel commercial room. The price to non-subscribers is £4, and even at such a price must be considered very cheap.

The Grocer (London)

This Directory, in two bulky volumes, claims to be the only trades directory embracing the whole of England. The publishers are, however, by no means novices in this special line of business, their "Irish" Directory being in its twelfth year of publication, and their "Scottish" one in its seventeenth. The present book represents many years of work and no small expenditure of capital, and we have little doubt will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants. A section for banks and a capital gazetteer are appended. There are various maps, and no pains seem to have been spared in making the Directory complete, comprehensive, and trustworthy. In brief, it presents a concise view of the business firms of England, bringing together information hitherto only accessible at great cost in many scattered volumes.

Weekly Dispatch (London)

Manufacturers and traders throughout the kingdom have long appreciated the immense usefulness of this work, and recognised its remarkable accuracy. It is a monument of extraordinary careful labour, and should find a place in the office of every business man.

Referee (London)

Manufacturers and merchants will find "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" an exceptionally useful work of reference. Year by year it has been greatly extended, until it now comprises the whole of England and Wales. As a commercial guide "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" must be invaluable to all traders.

The Drapers' Record (London)

A COLOSSAL DIRECTORY.—It is a complete Trades Directory for the whole of England within the compass of two volumes, and as such is a unique production in the publishing world. The amount of work involved in such a publication must be prodigious. Manufacturers and merchants should find it a most useful directory. The work is revised annually, and every effort is made by the publishers to ensure its accuracy.

Daily Chronicle (London)

"A NATION OF SHOPKEEPERS."—In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and merchants in touch with likely customers in England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present form represents the labour of several years, and that the large additions to the issue of 1899 (about 800 pages) necessitated the division of the book into two volumes. The area covered is so wide and the changes and additions so constant that, to our mind, it is only a question of time to see another division and a third volume. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, and Manchester.

The Law Journal (London)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" contains a remarkable amount of information of interest to the commercial classes.

The Anglo-American (London)

A GREAT DIRECTORY.—This work will be of great service to merchants and manufacturers. It is evident that Messrs Macdonald & Co. have put forth every possible effort, regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work. The result is that they have produced what they justly claim to be the largest directory in the English language.

The Ironmonger (London)

The attempt to include within two volumes (portly though they undoubtedly are), the data relating to the general trades of the whole of England is a bold one, but on the whole the experiment may be considered fairly successful. Naturally the publishers do not pretend to give every village or small township in the land, but all places of a few thousand inhabitants seem to have been noticed, and for busy people with limited library accommodation it is a distinct advantage to have information of this kind in two instead of, say, twenty volumes. The type is bold and clear, and the general arrangement convenient for rapid reference.

The Meat Trades Journal (London)

A WONDERFUL BOOK.—These two massive volumes represent the best attempt yet made to give in directory form a comprehensive work embracing England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Liverpool Mercury

A GREAT TRADES DIRECTORY.—One of the most valuable works of reference to commercial houses is an accurate and comprehensive trades directory. Such is provided by Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ld., who have just issued a new and considerably-enlarged edition of their "English Directory and Gazetteer." The whole work embraces authentic lists of the professions, trades, and businesses of some 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England, Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Thus it will be seen that the scope of the work is as wide as it well could be. As regards its accuracy, it need only be said that agents are sent annually to all the places of importance to verify the statements given

Manchester Courier

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" has now reached its fifteenth year of publication. It is the largest directory in the English language, and contains the names and addresses of manufacturers, merchants, traders, brokers, agents, dealers, and others connected with British trade and commerce. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Manchester Guardian

Amongst the continually increasing and more and more complex trade directories published, a very prominent place must be given to "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer." The work is in two volumes, each containing about 3000 pages, and its general character may be indicated by the statement that the publishers claim that it is the only trades directory which embraces the whole of England. Commercial travellers and the issuers of trade circulars may well be grateful for what is provided for them. Reference is facilitated by coloured edges of the pages, with the names of towns and so on printed thereon. The work is a marvel of enterprise, and is likely to prove exceptionally useful to a multitude of specialist producers and distributors.

Birmingham Daily Gazette

As the only Trades Directory which embraces the whole of England, this work will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants whose business relations extend all over the country. Hitherto they have been compelled to purchase a number of books to enable them to keep in touch with their distant customers, and the want of a comprehensive work has been strongly felt. To meet this urgent need has been the object of the compilers of these weighty volumes, which will be found invaluable in every merchant's office, saving time, space, and money.

The African Review (London)

These ponderous volumes contain a mass of information giving in a complete form a directory of the trades and traders of the whole kingdom. It claims to be the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. In any case, it is admirably printed, and so well arranged that anyone can glean from it the information he requires with a minimum of trouble.

Leeds Mercury

A GREAT DIRECTORY.—"Macdonald's English Directory" is a gigantic work in two volumes, the two forming a load for an office-boy. It is a gazetteer as well. By a simple plan, reference is made easy to any part of the contents So far as we can judge by towns we know, great care has been bestowed upon the preparation of these great volumes, which are brought as near to date as possible. For such a mass of information, the price (£4) must be regarded as very moderate.

The Yorkshire Post (Leeds)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" appears this year in two huge volumes of over 6000 pages Completeness and accuracy throughout such a colossal work are of course impossible, but the greatest care has evidently been taken to reach both, and it bears, as well as most directories of smaller scope, the test of local knowledge. It is intended especially for traders having business relations in all parts of the country, who, without it, would be obliged to burden their offices with a large number of directories.

Sheffield Daily Telegraph

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 comprises two enormous volumes. The true test of any directory is to turn up your own town and other places with which you are familiar. Tried by this test, we have found Macdonald's Directory remarkably accurate. Although in several of the trades it is not so comprehensive as a local work would be, it is comprehensive enough for all practical purposes. In its particulars of rural districts in our immediate neighbourhood it is also quite relible.

Sheffield Independent

The two bulky volumes that comprise this publication must be a veritable godsend to merchants and manufacturers whose business relations extend all over the country. For it contains alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, traders, and shippers in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres throughout England, and, moreover, is so capitally arranged, so clearly printed, and so firmly bound as to render the task of reference to its pages easy and profitable.

Bradford Daily Telegraph

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, London, and Dublin, have issued a trade directory that embraces the whole of England. There are two huge volumes. The directory in its present form represents the work of many years, and the expenditure of a large amount of capital. The Gazetteer has been greatly extended, and will be found invaluable for commercial reference.

Western Daily Press (Bristol)

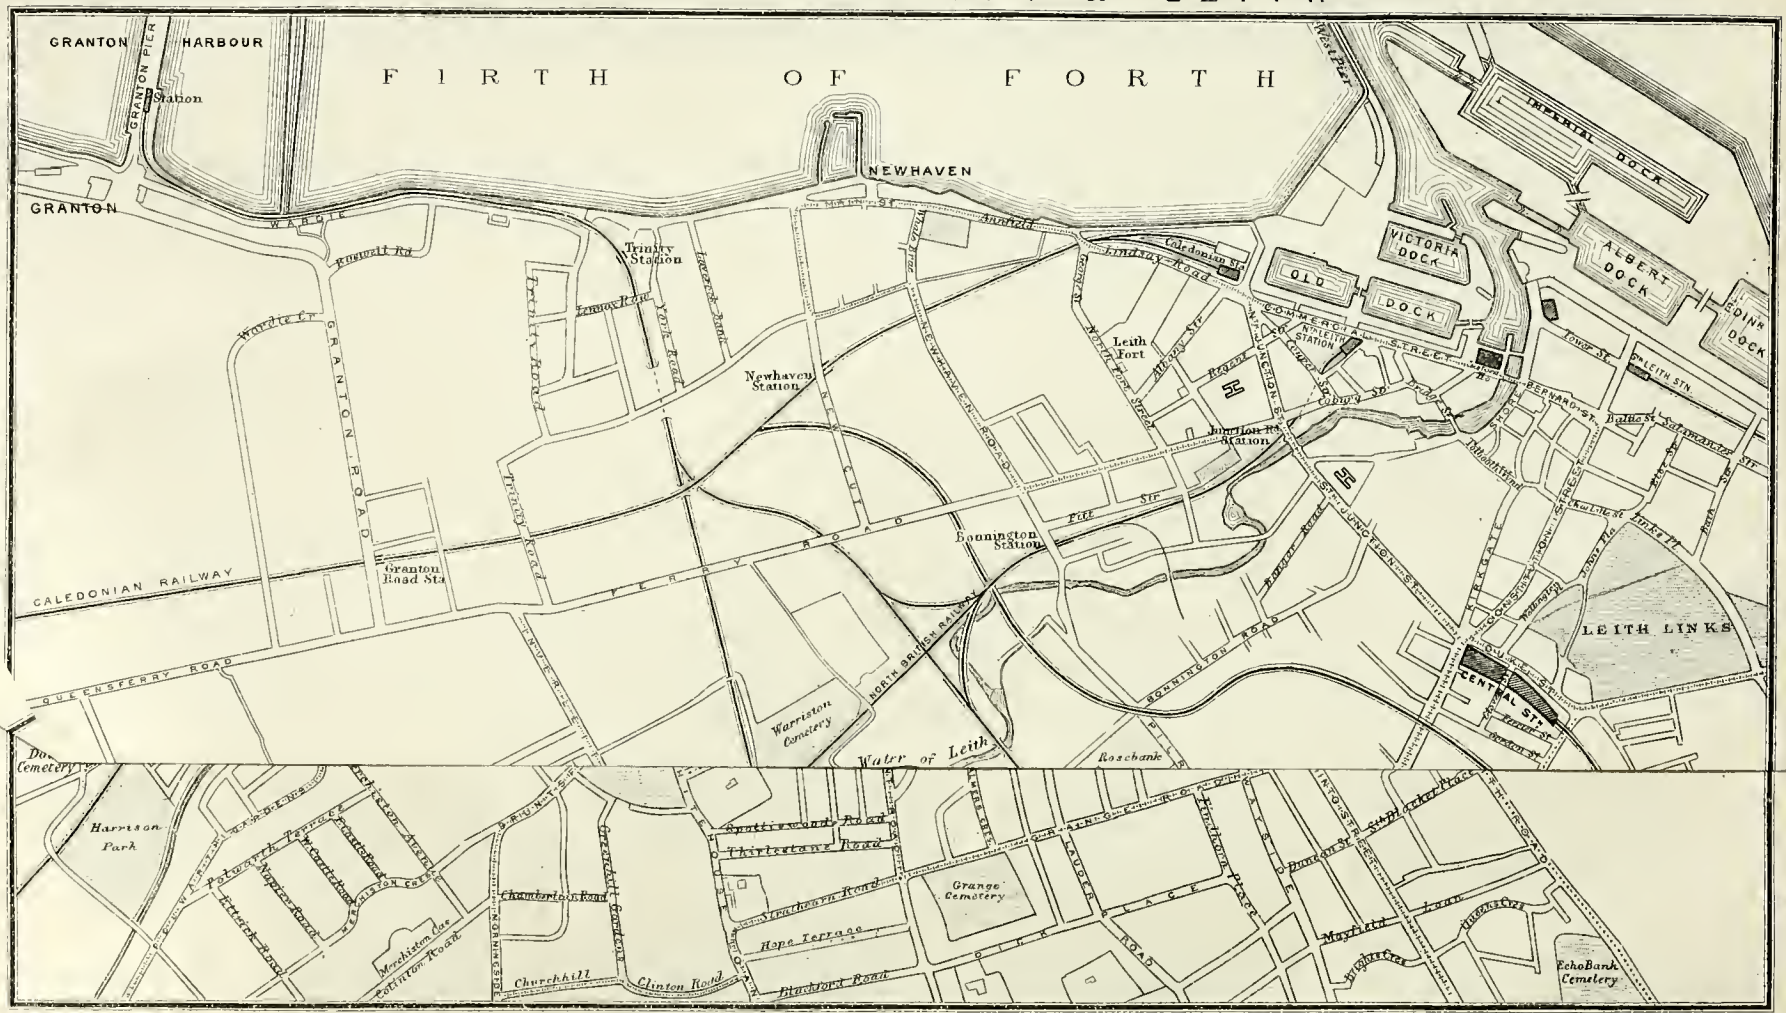
"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.—A work consisting of two volumes, and containing about three thousand pages in each volume, may fairly be described as a marvellous enterprise. The work is clearly divided, the first volume being made up of a trades' directory of London and over two hundred suburban districts, and a separate trades' directory for each of the principal provincial cities and towns, of which about forty are dealt with; while the second volume is devoted to all other towns, with villages of importance. A handy gazetteer is given, which contributes to the completeness of an undertaking of colossal proportions.

Newcastle Chronicle

We have not had this huge volume placed upon the scales, but it is of great avoirdupois, though not beyond the lifting strength of a well-nourished office boy. This valuable book is now being issued in two volumes, the second one alone containing some three thousand pages. It is a trade directory of the entire kingdom, and is invaluable for manufacturers and merchants who wish to see at a glance the names of the persons in any town or village engaged in any particular profession, trade, or business.

Western Mail (Cardiff)

The compilation of a trades directory for the whole of England and Wales must have involved an amount of work and organisation calculated to deter any but the most sanguine and enthusiastic of men from embarking on a task of such magnitude. Nevertheless, the work has been accomplished, and we have now before us two bulky volumes representing the edition for 1900. A more useful book of reference for merchants, manufacturers, and traders, of every description cannot well be imagined. A map of England and street maps of London and the principal provincial towns are included, and a section of the book is devoted to a gazetteer.



South Wales Daily News (Cardiff)

The work is divided into two stupendous volumes of over 3000 pages each, strongly bound, and admirably indexed. In order to indicate the enormous range of the information given in the directory, it may be mentioned that it includes authentic lists of the professions, trades, and businesses of upwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, the Channel Islands, and a concise gazetteer of England and Wales, giving a great deal of useful information.

Weston Mercury and Somersetshire Herald (Weston-Super-Mare)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 compiled by William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., is one of the most comprehensive works that has ever been issued.

ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s. —a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is devoted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Daily Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its porportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of upwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., have reissued their "English Directory," amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 2000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to speak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of great care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.—We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact, we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.

PATENT OFFICE,

Designs and Trade Marks Registry.

W. R. M. THOMSON & CO.,

Patent Agents and Consulting Engineers,

96 BUCHANAN ST., GLASGOW,

WHO have had over THIRTY YEARS' PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE, continue to obtain BRITISH and FOREIGN PATENTS for INVENTIONS, and register DESIGNS and TRADE MARKS at Lowest Charges.

Under the "Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks' Acts, 1883 and 1885," which are now in operation, Inventions may be provisionally protected at a nominal fee, and ample time is given for experimentally testing and perfecting improvements before Complete Specifications and Drawings have to be filed. Inventors are therefore recommended to secure Provisional Protection before undertaking costly trials.

Full information regarding cost and procedure on application for Patents will be found in the "INVENTOR'S GUIDE," which may be had gratis.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotsman

"The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

The edition for 1900 of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . . . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work—a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Liverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

. . . Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.
